Congratulations on winning a One Night Stay on Saturday, December 29, 2018 at the Upper Pontalba Building Apartments. The building is an exquisite, red-brick structure often designated as the first apartment house in the United States. The original building was completed in 1850 as a monument to the Baroness de Pontalba, who executed their development. This one bedroom, one bathroom apartment is located on the second floor where the balcony view affords you two of the most famous and colorful sites in New Orleans - Jackson Square and St. Louis Cathedral. There are no elevators or parking facilities for residents of The Pontalba.

Donated by First American Title Insurance Company of Louisiana.
